

wedding style

YOUR GUIDE TO WHAT'S HAPPENING IN THE WEDDING WORLD

Italian style

If you're thinking about getting married overseas, Marry Me Abroad is a Sydney-based company that helps Australian couples marry in Italy. The team will take care of as much or as little as you like – from flowers, hair and make-up to the wedding service, accommodation and private wine tours for the wedding party. World-renowned wedding photographer Deyan Grujovic will travel to Italy next year to photograph exclusively for the company. Couples will be able to meet with him in Sydney to discuss how they want their day to be captured. www.marrymeabroad.com

Picture perfect

For a beautiful way to store your wedding photos, why not have a personalised photo book created? Linda Waters of Deaux Eaux Design produces a range of exquisite handcrafted photo albums. They are carefully structured using specially selected papers and adhesives, so they will last for generations. They are available in a range of fabrics and can even be made using the fabric from your wedding dress. A lovely keepsake of all your wedding-day moments. www.deauxeauxdesign.com.au

Help is at hand

If you're feeling slightly overwhelmed by the wedding planning process don't worry – you can get online advice from people who're in the same boat or have been through it. Go to Bride's revamped website at www.bride.com.au and make the most of our discussion boards where you can seek and share advice.

Bride has also found a recently engaged woman to share her wedding planning story on the website. Go to the blog and find out how Olivia Evans is coping. Her wedding is next February so she's got a lot to do!

While you're there, go to the picture galleries section where you'll find loads of images from Bride fashion shoots to give you inspiration.

Pose for Posh

If you're after a wedding album that you can leave on the coffee table to be thoroughly enjoyed then check out Posh Photography. The company specialises in magazine-style albums with a contemporary edge that will last through the years. Each page design is done by hand to create the right mix of creative and style without letting the design dominate the page. With the benefit of archival paper and hand-bound

